Letter from Julian Hill.

Dear Brian

Outcome of Volunteer Grants Application

I'm writing regarding your organisation's application for the 2023-24 Volunteer Grants program.

I am delighted to advise you that your application for a volunteer grant was successful and Endeavour Hills Men's Shed Incorporated will be provided with $2000 for your nominated project.

Here is a challenge.

Boss: could you write "No smoking" in Arabic on this oil tanker?
Me: sure

DEALING WITH DISRUPTIVE BEHAVIOR

SHED RESOURCE

The VMSA has been fielding several inquiries from Men's Sheds grappling with the complexities of disruptive member behaviour, with some sheds, unfortunately, witnessing a loss of members due to these challenges.

In the most severe instances, sheds have found it necessary to implement disciplinary measures to address the situation effectively.

Sheds facing this challenge may find helpful guidance on Justice Connect's website. There, they can access valuable advice on employing mediation to navigate and resolve conflicts effectively. This resource serves as a resource for clarity and guidance for shed groups striving to address disputes constructively.

Justice Connect - Handling disputes and conflicts

Another great resource is the comprehensive guide provided by Consumer Affairs Victoria. This guide outlines various strategies and procedures for managing disruptive behaviour, with detailed insights available on page 7 under the section titled "Disciplinary Action."

Diabetes Victoria has recently initiated discussions with VMSA regarding the potential organization of diabetes education sessions at men's sheds across the state in 2024. They also expressed their willingness to provide support to sheds interested in establishing local peer support groups. This collaboration aims to enhance diabetes awareness and support within the shed community, promoting overall health and well-being among members.
